EMERGENCY MONEY SOCIETY: Perhaps the most "numismatic" membership cards carried by members of any coin collecting group today are now in the pockets of members of the Emergency Money Society.

According to Richard Upton, editor of the Society's Journal, membership cards have been printed on the plain reverse of German paper Notgeld, issued during the 1914-1923 period when emergency money was used to replace the Reichmark.

"Each membership card is sealed in plastic on both sides", Upton noted, adding that these are permanent membership cards with self-adhering renewal dates mailed to members upon renewal. These, when applied, cover the previous expiration date and are non-removable.

Membership in the Society includes 4 quarterly issues of the Journal, "The Journal of Emergency Money". A Coin Exchange is also maintained. Annual dues are $2.00 (US Funds) and may be remitted to Upton or JEMS at P. O. Box 36, Pimento, Indiana 47866.

BOOK REVIEWS

by Jerry Remick

"Pillars and Portraits" by Robert P. Harris, 1968, 96 pages, illustrated, $5.20 U.S. postpaid. Published by Bonanza Press, Box 4491, San Jose, California 95126, USA. Available from Robert P. Harris, 4535-B Stevens Creek Blvd., Santa Clara, Calif. 95051, USA.

This pocket-size catalogue covers the die struck, round, milled edge silver coins from 1/4 real through 8 reals produced by authority of the Spanish rulers at the mints in the Western Hemisphere during the period 1732 to 1826.

Photographs are shown of many of the type coins and evaluations are given in Fine and in Extra Fine condition for each coin.

This lengthy series of coinage with its many mint marks and mints is presented in a clear and logical manner. The coins struck at each mint are listed together. Thus there are 14 sections for the 14 mints starting with the mint at Chihuahua and ending with the mint at Zacatecas. The coins issued by each mint are subdivided according to the Spanish king under whom they were issued starting from the lowest denomination and ending with the highest denomination.

An introductory section covers mints and mint marks and the historical background of the pillar-type coins and the various Spanish kings under whom they were issued. Counterfeit coins are also discussed as these are being made today in the Far East.

The date listing of this lengthy series of coins by mint and the valuations given make this catalogue an essential guide to all who collect this series.

THE COINAGE OF FINLAND

Compiled by John K. Graves

INTRODUCTION

Finland, in the past, has commanded little interest for the average American collector, other than as a part of world types. Even in this area, the completion of a full type collection is extremely difficult, caused mainly by the scarcity of the 1918 Iron 5 Pennia piece. But like many sleepers, interest seems to be on the upswing, both here and abroad. This is particularly true of the earlier copper pieces in grades of extra fine or better. The quantity struck for most of these coins should present little problem for the specialist, but finding these rather inexpensive coins poses problems so often found in the field of minors struck in quantity. Rare crowns are generally obtainable - for a price; the lowly minor often available only with constant search and a lot of luck.

All Finnish coins were struck at the Helsinki Mint with four exceptions. The 25 pennia, 50 pennia and 1 markka of 1921 were struck by The Mint, Birmingham and bear the traditional H mintmark. The 1 markka piece for 1922 bears the heart mintmark, customary for coins struck at Copenhagen. All other marks on Finnish coins refer to the Director of the Mint at the time of striking, again with two exceptions: The 1960 1000 markkaa commemorative also bears the letter "J", the initial of Toivo Jaatinen, a noted Finnish sculptor who designed the coin. The latest commemorative, the 1967 10 markkaa coin, was designed by the sculptor, Heikki Haivaaja, whose initial "H" should not be confused with the initial "S" for the present Director of the Mint, Allan Soiniemi, who has been most helpful in supplying much of the detailed information contained herein.

Of particular interest is the person portrayed on the 1960 1000 markkaa commemorative, an identity curiously ignored not only by Mr. Yeoman, but also in every other publication on Finland I have yet found. He is Johan Wilhelm Snellman, one of Finland's greats, but a man who seems to have been ignored by biographical dictionaries and encyclopediae. He was a university professor, and among those knowledgeable in Finnish history, is regarded as the most important man in arousing the national spirit of the country so long under the domination of Sweden and Russia. He was the Chief of Finances when the Mint of Finland was established. The "4" over "IV" on the reverse signifies the 4th of April 1860, the date Finland officially began its own monetary system of Penni and Markka. Paper currency was issued almost immediately, but it was not until 1864 that the first coins were struck and put into circulation. These were of the denominations of 1 Penni, 50 Pennia and 1 Markka. The following year the 25 Pennia, 10 Pennia and 5 Pennia pieces were introduced. The final non-gold piece, the 2 Markkaa was first issued in 1867. It was eighteen years after the establishment of the new monetary system that gold coins were struck and issued, though in rather limited quantities.

For a nation of rugged individualists, burning fierce with national pride and a sense of honor for its indebtedness to those who have helped in times of stress not found in any other country surviving the ravages of World War I, I find the coinage of Finland a most interesting and challenging field of numismatics.

John K. Graves
